

Shane Linton

Co-founder

Shane Linton enlisted in the United States Marine Corps after graduating from high school. Shane met Shamine while stationed at Camp Pendleton in California in 1994. He enrolled in City College after completing his contract commitment and earning an associate degree in Computer Science. He later went to work for Kontron, where he repaired FAA in-flight entertainment servers. Shane then joined the Army National Guard in 2009, and while serving in the guard, he completed a bachelor's degree in business information systems. With these new skills, Shane joined his wife Shamine in expanding Sharia's Closet to a larger population in need. Sharia's Closet is a non-profit organization that provides FREE clothing to people in need.

Shane has filled a variety of roles at Sharia's Closet, including but not limited to Executive Assistant to the President/CEO - assists the President/CEO with daily administrative duties and a wide range of administrative tasks. Webmasters responsible for ensuring the functionality and efficiency of the web infrastructure. Document Controller - manages and maintains all controlled company documents, including procedure documents and forms, and updates and controls them. CFO - accountable for managing the day-to-day things to do of the organization's finances. his includes managing money flow, paying and recording bills, pay, and retaining a record of debt. Social Media Specialist - accountable for interacting with our subscribers to promote our offerings and support to our online audiences. Grant writer - responsible for research, draft, and submit proposals that help the agencies to acquire grant funding.

